

PREFACE

The first edition of Class L, Education, was published in 1910, the second in 1928. The third edition appeared in 1951, incorporating additions and changes through 1949. The third edition was reprinted in 1960 with additions and changes through September 1959 and again in 1966 with additions and changes through 1965. The fourth edition was published in 1984. The 1995, 1998, and 2005 editions cumulated additions and changes that were made since the publication of the previous editions. This 2012 edition includes additions and changes made since the 2008 edition was published.

In editions of the Library of Congress classification schedules published since 2004, classification numbers or spans of numbers that appear in parentheses are formerly valid numbers that are now obsolete. Numbers or spans that appear in angle brackets are optional numbers that have never been used at the Library of Congress but are provided for other libraries that wish to use them. In most cases, a parenthesized or angle-bracketed number is accompanied by a "see" reference directing the user to the actual number that the Library of Congress currently uses, or a note explaining Library of Congress practice.

Access to the online version of the full Library of Congress Classification is available on the World Wide Web by subscription to Classification Web. Details about ordering and pricing may be obtained from the Cataloging Distribution Service at

New or revised numbers and captions are added to the L.C. Classification schedules as a result of development proposals made by the cataloging staff of the Library of Congress and cooperating institutions. Upon approval of these proposals by the editorial meeting of the Policy and Standards Division, new classification records are created or existing records are revised in the master classification database. Lists of newly approved or revised classification numbers and captions are posted on the World Wide Web at

<<http://www.loc.gov/aba/cataloging/classification/weeklylists/>>

The Policy and Standards Division is responsible for coordinating the overall intellectual and editorial content of class L and its various subclasses. Kent Griffiths and Ethel Tillman, assistant editors of classification schedules, create new classification records and their associated index terms, and maintain the master database.
